ECOMPEX to Demonstrate Affordable Imaging Solutions at 2009 ARMA Conference - Combining Cutting-Edge Technology and Quality Services for a One-Stop Information Management Solution

Solutions Give Government and Industry Cost-Effective Option to Accomplish More Work for the Same Budget

McLean, Virginia (September 29, 2009) – ECOMPEX, Inc., a leading information and knowledge management company, will introduce a new program that offers organizations an affordable imaging solution featuring the company's commercial off-the-shelf software (COTS) combined with state-of-the-art information management services. This affordable imaging solution developed for government and industry is supported by an ISO 9001:2008 quality certification and will be displayed in the ECOMPEX Booth #641 during the ARMA International 2009 Annual Conference and Expo in Orlando, FL October 15-18, 2009.

In today's world, organizations are increasingly challenged to find new and more efficient ways to improve productivity with shrinking resources. The current economic reality means that it is even more critical for business to uncover cost-effective approaches for making the best use of vital data, records, and the tremendous amounts of other important information. To give organizations more flexibility and allow them to accomplish more work for the same budget, ECOMPEX has created an affordable imaging and information management strategy that combines their advanced document imaging, coding, data extraction & processing, and document management services with their industry proven, state-of-the-art information management software technologies.

This comprehensive solution scans, indexes, redacts, and converts documents and records into electronic form. Using the ECOMPEX one-stop solution, businesses are able to create digital assets that can be instantly searched, located, retrieved, managed, and secured electronically to enhance performance and productivity.

ECOMPEX has been delivering innovative imaging solutions to industry and government organizations for more than ten years. The ECOMPEX imaging system handles a half a million records of sensitive information daily, with unlimited upscale capabilities. The powerful combination of ECOMPEX services with the company's innovative imaging production, data processing, and document management software will enable organizations to save information processing time, reduce errors, and increase productivity all while staying within their budget.

More information about this affordable imaging solution from ECOMPEX will be available in Booth #641 at the ARMA International 2009 Annual Conference and Expo in Orlando, FL October 15-18, 2009. For more on the 2009 ARMA Expo, go to
